Six years ago today, Oct 22, 2013...my world was changed...your light was extinguished here on earth, but I know it is shining radiantly in heaven. Knowing you are with your husband, parents, brother 'n sister helps to ease the pain within my heart of not having you here on earth. Not a day has gone by these last 2190 day's that I haven't thought about you, missed you, wanted to reach for the phone to call you or wait for you to call me one of our many daily calls. There is a void within my heart that will forever remain empty...but, you will forever live within my memories, and it's those memories that help me through day's like these. I love 'n miss you Auntie Carol...
