

Jeff Williams

???? - 1998

Unattributed:

He drove a show truck for several years called The Days Of Wine And Roses, and had Jeffs Crib painted on the sun visor. He was battling Cancer and had won and was ready to get back in to Vanning this year. He had been out of it for a couple years because of his illness. He had a new truck with some new custom paint and was ready for Bluegrass Vanners event in Bowling Green Ky. Some one broke in his house and shot him and his room mate. Jeff died and his room mate survived. From those of us who knew him this was a shock. We will miss him and our thoughts will be with him and his family.
